Coaching style?

Up and down style. We want to attack teams before they are set. I don't like to lockdown the players. I let the players play, because they know the objectives.

Who do you model yourself after?

Mike D'Antoni (New York Knicks head coach.) A team's highest field goal percentage is in the first seven seconds and the final second of the shot clock. We take shots quickly when we get them, but shot selection is still important.

Dream job?

Sycamore. No question about it. This is where I want to be.

Ultimate goal?

We want to be a top five Greater Miami Conference team year in and year out. If we do that, we've accomplished something.
